I was really lucky to know Storypal!

My students and me had an awesome experience which was new to us through this site.

Exchanging letters with foreign friends made us exciting and looking forward to writing back.

We could learn many different things from our penpals and it helped for us to understand their culture.

And we also found some common things between us even if we are living in a different place.

I want to say thank you Storypal again for connecting and matching penpals.

You are doing a great job! :)

My students all love the penpal project with Storypal! They waited for the class time and got excited for letters they received.

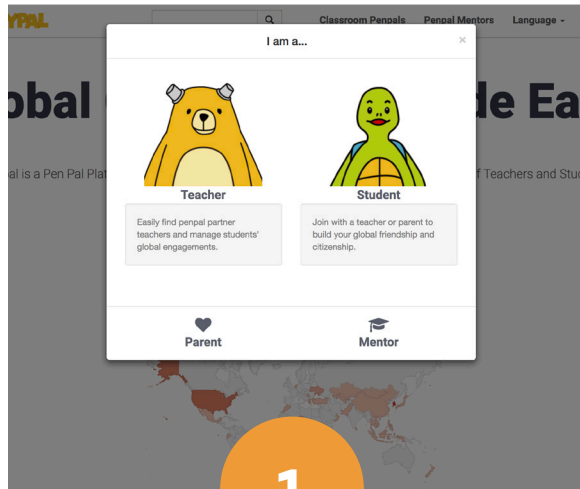

56 middleschool students of mine exchanged letters with middleschool students in U.S. last year. My students learned and practiced English in meaningful context. In addition to language learning, they learned different culture.

I love the idea of exchanging letters with friends in differnt culture and using target language in real context.

And Storypal realized this idea in my class. The CEO, Heehwa Choi and her staffs were very kind and they were very helpful with technical issue and even langauge teaching.

I highly recommend Storypal to your students!
